The first half of the selling season finished on a very firm note with a closing EMI of 1355¢ despite the offering being the largest for the season.. It was a little easier in US currency, which had strengthened on Wednesday (US time) when the US Federal Reserve lifted the official interest rate.

The Merinos did best, as in most of the recent weeks, with gains of around 0.8% across most of the micron ranges. Merino skirtings finished strongly, while oddments were a bit mixed. The Merino Cardings Price Guide fell by 0.3¢, but finished at the very good level of 1132¢.

The softer demand and associated price falls across all crossbred micron ranges led to a pass-in rate of 15.7%, compared with 6.0% for Merino Fleece and Skirtings.

The US Exchange Rate finished 0.76¢ (-1.0%) lower to close at 74.21¢ on Thursday in response to the 0.25% increase in the US interest rate on Wednesday. The rise in the US interest rate was only the second increase since 2006.

Buyers for China were dominant, with support from buyers for India, Europe and Korea.
